I. Jesus Preaching in Galilee (vv. 14, 15).

The reason why the changed from Judea to Galilee was the growing opposition to him. The fate of John the Baptist he accepted as foreshadowing his own death. The rejection at the Nazareth meant the rejection of his whole ministry by his own people. Nazareth was a place of little importance, where he would attract less attention and be free from opposition. Besides this it gave less promise to people an opportunity to hear the gospel, according to the prophetic word (Isa. 9:1, 2), as foreshadowed the spread to the Gentiles.

1. What he preached (v. 14)? The gospel of the Kingdom of God, which means the good news of the approach of the Kingdom of God, when the rule of God as proclaimed by the prophets would be established. It should be carefully noted that the gospel of the Kingdom differs from the gospel of the grace of God.

2. How he preached (v. 15). (1) "The time is fulfilled and the Kingdom of God is at hand." This meant that the time had now come for the appearance of the Messiah and the establishment of his kingdom. (2) "Repent." This meant that the people should turn around, change their minds and attitude toward God, the King and their report him as their King. This is a message which needs to be sounded out today. Every sinner is to be called to repent of their sins. (3) "Believe the gospel." Then, as now, men need to believe the gospel of Christ's death for sin, his resurrection and his coming again.

regrets. However, addresses were made by Mrs. Kyle, Mr. Saunders, and Revs. John Spencer and Moser of the Baptist and Methodist churches respectively. Each address was excellent and timely and held the undivided attention of the crowd from beginning to end. The memorial service held in honor of the boys who gave their lives for their country was impressive indeed.

Much more might be written about this gathering which involved much that was patriotic, sentimental, religious and reverent in our people, and which was controlled and planned by the intropid little lady, Mrs. Kyle. But suffice it to say everyone left the beautiful spot feeling that it had been a most pleasant and profitable day, spent in the right way, in honor of our boys who suffered and stood so much for us.

But before closing must be mentioned the hospitality of the owners of the picnic ground, where so many find enjoyment, Mr. John Sheppard and sister, Miss Julia Sheppard, of Richmond. Children need not be told that a native of Buckingham, who was known for his many admirable qualities, they have inherited everything which makes them beloved and admired by those of our people who know them; and as always, they expressed their hospitality by throwing open their doors to the crowd and personally seeing to their needs, making each person present feel as though he were a welcome guest instead of a picnicer.

not yet been announced from Washington.

Mr. Landes is very anxious to receive applications from persons who desire employment and states that competent enumerators can earn from five to six dollars per day, the compensation to be based per capita. A preference will be shown honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines who saw foreign service, but all others interested are urged to see Mr. Landes at once for particulars. Examinations will probably be held the latter part of October, appointments to be made by November 15.

Thanksgiving and Prayer

Text of Proclamation Issued by President Wilson.

Washington.—President Wilson issued a proclamation designating Thursday, October 30, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer. The proclamation follows:

"By the President of the United States of America.

"A Proclamation.

"It has been the custom of our people at the close of the year to turn in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for the many blessings which he has bestowed upon us. We have been preserved from the disasters which have befallen other nations. We have been blessed with peace and prosperity. We have been free to work out our own destiny in our own way. We have been given the opportunity to show the sincerity of our friendship for other nations by the aid we have rendered them in their hour of need. We have been able to relieve the distress of millions of people in Europe and Asia. We have been permitted to participate in the establishment of the League of Nations, which has for its object the prevention of war and the amicable settlement of international disputes. We have been able to assist in the restoration of order in Mexico. We have been able to bring to a successful conclusion the great war for human liberty in which we were engaged.

"For all these manifold mercies let us lift our hearts in gratitude to God.

"It is also fitting that we should humble ourselves before Him in view of our shortcomings as individuals and as a nation, seek His counsel in the solution of our problems, implore Him to forgive our sins and beseech Him to guide us in the future.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, October 30, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and do call upon the people to assemble on that day in their churches and in their homes to render thanks to Almighty God for the many benefits which he has showered upon us and to pray for a continuance of his favor and protection.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington this 29th day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-fourth.

"WOODROW WILSON.

"By the President:
"BAINBRIDGE COLBY,
"Secretary of State."
